A VOICE FOR ZOEY

Zoey was born with a very rare condition called CHAOS (Congenital High Airway Obstruction Syndrome). November 11th, 2014 was the day we found out Zoey was a girl and 30 minutes later they informed us of her condition. We were told Zoey had no real chance for survival. We were given hard choices to make and we chose to continue with the pregnancy.

Zoey was born on March 4th and spent 2 months in ICU but we were able to take her home and she thrived! She has a one-inch blockage not allowing air to flow through her trachea, so she can't breathe through normal means, her trach is her only airway. In addition to the airway blockage her voice box is also fused shut and has been since birth.

Zoey is now 3 and doing better than ever. She's happy, outgoing, loves playing with friends and being outside as much as she can be. Due to having the trach Zoey needs constant care. We are looking forward to hearing Zoey's voice and your support at the benefit.
