Actually, I just got my 3rd DUI, and lost my job last week...I'm 6 days sober. But I get it, that was my choice as opposed to you who did nothing wrong. If it's any comfort you are absolutely beautiful, and that gives you a leg up on almost every other woman. Hopefully in the next month it will fade away and you'll feel happy again. Want me to send your parents an email for you explaining it to them?

Make me feel better? You and hunter are invading my privacy, I'm looked at completely different and get texts, phone calls and messages from ppl saying I have seen you naked... I'm sorry but I don't get how you can be having a hard time, you didn't lose your job, have ppl at taco bell come up to you and say I have seen you naked or half to sit down and show your family and try get them to believe you that you have never posted pictures of yourself nude or sent them to anyone...

All I can say is I'm sorry. Really. If it makes you feel better I did nothing other then look at your pictures. Nothing financial or medical, I promise.

I truly wish there was something I could do to make it up to you. I'm having a hard time too. Please feel better and know that nothing else will come from this.

Okay, so who do you think you are hacking into peoples account and posting them on the website "isanyoneup.com"? Do you know how much damage you are doing to people, and you dont even know the people that you are posting on the website.. Ever since you posted me on that website you have caused so much damage in my life, stress, i have made myself sick because I was first trying to see who would do that to me then put things together and found out that you are hacking into peoples account and posting them on the webste and probaly working with hunter moore or whatever his name is.... He wants to teach people a lesson.. well what lesson are you teaching people who never took pictures of themselves, the pictures you guys posted of me claiming to be me actually are not of me but of my friend.. I have had tattos that would have been noticeable that i have had since i was 16 so if you are trying to say it is me well guess what you would be posting pictures of minors.. I just totaled my car last weekend and cant even remember what happened the hospital said my blod pressure for my age is not normal and not good.. i have seen doctors who all know my situation and are worried because of the damage you and hunter moore have caused me.... I have private records on my email, medical records of other people since i was working at a cancer center and I need to let everyone know what has happened.. How someone for no reason hacked into my email and downloaded all my attachments.... I have a question why?
