DMC Sinai-Grace Art Contest

DMC Sinai-Grace Hospital is searching for Michigan-based artists to paint murals in its new Infusion Center. Nine artists in total are sought for eight patient rooms, and the waiting room.

“The idea for this contest grew out of our desire to create a healing and pleasant environment for our patients receiving treatment,” said Sinai-Grace CEO Conrad L. Mallett. “Patients spend a lot of time receiving infusions and we hope that each of the murals will make the patient experience more pleasant during their journey.”

Deadline for submissions is Sunday, January 14, 2018. Artists will be notified the week of January 22, 2018, if their proposed design was selected. Artists must paint their murals on the wall before February 28, 2018. Each selected artists will have the room displaying their artwork named after them to recognize their beautiful masterpiece. An artwork unveiling ceremony will be held for the community in early March.

The competition is open to Michigan residents only. Sinai-Grace’s Patient-Family Advisory Council (PFAC) will serve as the judges for the competition. The PFAC is comprised of community members, hospital patients, and their families.
